Queen Georgiana (Aunty Gee)

An ex-student of Winchesterfield Downsfordvale Academy, Aunty Gee went to school with Alice-Miranda's Granny Valentina, and the best friends are delighted to be able to spend some time together on the Cruise ship where the Queen can just be normal for a bit and enjoy some ice cream with sprinkles.

Lord Lloyd is delighted to take care of the security at the Royal Christmas Ball and needs to use all his wit and observation in the security room to protect the crown he loves so dearly.

The ponies have big personalities too...

The Winchesterfield-Downsfordvale Academy has its own stables, and students are encouraged to bring their pony with them to school if they have one. There's plenty of gorgeous bush and woodlands to ride through, sparkling creeks to jump over, and green fields to canter through.

Each pony has its own personality, which brings humour to the series... like Stumps, who, at the mention of 'home', gallops at full speed back to the stables taking the rider quite by surprise! But none with so much personality as Alice-Miranda's own Pony, Bonaparte (Bony the Pony), who is disobedient, wilful and generally badly behaved. At the whiff of a chocolate brownie he's off no matter what his tiny rider says.

A special new friendship is formed...

When the Queens royal dressage competition horse 'Popstar' arrives at Winchester Downsfordvale Stables stubborn and distressed, she had no idea that the uncultured and very naughty Pony, 'Bony' would be her knight in shining armour. The pair become inseparable, and their special friendship blossoms and proves vital to her ability to compete in the Queens Cup.
