Alea Aquarius

Under the seas, beyond the reach of our ships, lies a forgotten inheritance. When Alea’s foster mother collapses, the sixteen-year-old panics, her fingers brushing cold water and a singular signal ripples through every ocean. She doesn’t know it yet, but a hidden world has heard her call. Cassaras, a cursed mer prince with eyes of ice, sets his sights on her. Alea escapes with Sammy, Ben, and Tess, a tight-knit crew of young buskers on a sailing boat. Soon Lennox joins them, a drifting enigma whose presence feels like home. Intuition becomes connection; connection becomes a dangerous question: who is Alea and why is she so vital to Cassaras?

As the friends set out to uncover Alea’s origins, flight turns into a mission. The sea holds more than legend: a lost story of where we come from, a realm both kin and other, and a shadow spreading through the water. Between harbours and blue water, suspicion and trust, the crew becomes a chosen family. Tess’s caution yields to loyalty, Alea’s secret becomes a shared burden.

Lennox’s protective impulse brings light and conflict alike; what he means to safeguard tests the bonds that keep them afloat.

Cassaras draws closer, creatures of the deep at his command. But pressure clarifies Alea’s compass: the answers aren’t on land – they lie where the signal began.

On an island far from any coastline, the pieces of ancient queens, lost relics, and a power meant not to rule but to heal start to fit together. In the end, it isn’t a simple fight, but a choice about belonging, responsibility, and protecting what connects them all: the ocean. Flight becomes purpose, secrecy becomes calling and a new voyage begins.

Sam & Julia

Coming from a distant island, Julia, a cute and speedy little she-mouse, has moved into a residential building (a.k.a. “The Mouse Mansion”) where she feels a bit like a stranger. She gets to meet Sam who also lives there and is a welcoming and crafty little he-mouse. Julia has only her mum for family. Sam on the other hand has a large family with mum, dad and a sibling group of six. Despite their different characters, they soon get to very much like each other. Sam helps his new little neighbour friend to get used to her new life. The funny entertaining adventures they experience in and around The Mouse Mansion allow Julia to become ever more integrated into this new, different environment. Even though she sometimes feels nostalgic about the beautiful and warm island where she was born and misses, she feels more at home day after day, surrounded by her new neighbours and friends.

Sam & Julia is a real-time animated 3D series, in the stop motion style, to match the very unique, real-doll atmosphere of the best-selling book series Sam & Julia by Karina Schaapman that the series is based on.

Be with Zee

Join Zee, a cuddly five-year-old forest creature, and Matua, a supportive parent or caring caregiver, on their shared adventures through life. Written for the anxious child and the stressed parent, each episode tells a comedic and charming story about trying new things, facing the unknown, and sharing feelings.

Zee and Matua's whimsical wanderings challenge them to discover and work through their emotions – giving kids and parents real-life coping, communication, and mindfulness skills. From collecting Zee's favourite objects and organising them by colour, to drawing feelings with crayons when they're overwhelmed, Zee and Matua laugh, share, and become closer and more resilient.

A poetic antidote to the overstimulation of modern kids' media, Be with Zee embraces a slower, more intentional rhythm, fostering mindfulness, curiosity, and emotional depth through rich hand-crafted visuals and gentle storytelling that bring viewers a sense of happiness, calm, and connection.

Grisù

Meet Grisù, the first fire-fighting dragon. He is always ready for his missions around the world!

Grisù is a little dragon who dreams of becoming a firefighter. Even if there's no job available at the fire station, he is always ready to help! He travels the world to accomplish his missions because, as he always says, "Firefighters never give up!" His father Fumé doesn't understand his son's vocation. Dragons breathe fire! So why can't Grisù just give up this crazy idea?

But every day, Grisù goes to see the fire chief David, his best friend Stella's father, to check if there is a job for filled, but David finds him another role. And the small dragon puffs out his chest – "I'm always ready!" – and helps out as a shepherd, cook, florist, archaeologist, pilot or even a sailor!

Grisù puts more into the job than anyone else by using his energy and his 'touch', which always brings an unexpected twist. When the situation gets complicated, Grisù's emotions overwhelm him and he can't help releasing a little spark which makes things worse... In these moments of doubt, Grisù knows how to draw on his heroic spirit – "Firefighters never give up!". At the end, one thing is sure: Grisù is going to be a firefighter!

Henrietta

Henrietta lives on a little farm together with the farmer and lots of other animals. Her favourite activity is to help the local postman deliver the mail. She has big and little adventures, sometimes causes chaos, goes on journeys or throws a party. With Henrietta, there's always something going on – turbulent stories with plenty of surprises, crazy chickens and happy, surprising endings!

The series brings great fun to the viewers in seeing how the animals solve their bizarre problems with creativity and always manage to enjoy a real happy ending.

The cow that constantly underestimates her own physique and tries to fulfill her needs in a naive and funny way creates a unique humour. Every episode contains a twist, a humorous change. Often the result at the end contradicts the expectations at the beginning of an episode.

Pettson and Findus

Pettson and Findus tells captivating stories of the old, inventive farmer Pettson and his loyal but impudent cat Findus.

Pettson is an old man who lives on a farm way up north and cares for his lively and imaginative cat Findus. Findus constantly wants to discover and experience new and exciting things, e.g. fishing, outdoor camping or treasure hunting. Since Findus has never done these things before, Pettson is always by his side and takes good care of him. He also uses these adventures to test some of his newest inventions... Unfortunately, these inventions do not always work the way they should and things end up in a mess. Sometimes the cocky feline – who is like a son to him – really gets on Pettson's nerves, but in the end they're always of one heart and one mind. For they both know that one without the other is unthinkable – and only half the fun!

Ziggy and the Zootram

Ziggy and the Zootram is an animated 3D series for upper preschoolers. It's about a group of animals who live in a small zoo and who have a very special secret – they go home at night!

Every afternoon when the zoo closes, Ziggy, the Australian freshwater crocodile, and his friends Miss Emily the elephant, Lionel the lion, and the others, put on their clothes and get on the tram. It takes them across land and sea to their village on a remote island. But on every trip – and sometimes before they even leave – something unexpected happens to turn the journey into a hilarious adventure...

When they arrive at the zoo – by a secret underground passage – they shed their clothes and quickly get back in their cages. There they spend the day pretending to be wild animals for the benefit of the visitors who have no inkling of their secret double life. Welcome aboard the zoo tram!

Maari the squid has two very best friends: Tuts, a turtle, and Fin, a crab. Wherever there are problems in the Blue Bay Reef, the three of them are there, together with the little plankton Spotti. They survive every adventure because together they are unstoppable. Tentacle, flipper and pincer too – the best team in the ocean blue.

Season 2 also tells about the exciting, funny and educational adventures of Maari and her friends in the Blue Bay Reef. The new season focusses on the togetherness of the reef's inhabitants. Being there for each other, arguing and getting along, finding compromises – all the topics that pre-school children know from their everyday lives.

Humour will also play a bigger role, as will music. In the second season, for example, there will be an episode that is almost exclusively about singing.

Bunny is a long-eared hopper with a passion for zoology and literacy, turning real animal facts into big, bold, funny adventures that he creates. Each six-minute episode starts with a “Fun Animal Fact” that sparks Bunny’s imagination. He then writes a story in which he is the star – from treasure hunts with sleepy snails to high-speed quests atop an ostrich. Blending zoology with early literacy for ages 4–7, the series shows how logic and creativity thrive together. Along the way, Bunny models empathy – listening, adapting, and learning from others – proving that the more you learn, the more you understand.

Dibidoo (KiKANiNCHEN)

Dibidoo (KiKANiNCHEN) is a successful, multimedia pre-school program on KiKA, the public service children's channel run by ARD/ZDF in Germany. It is tailored to the development and needs of our youngest newcomers to media. The darling of every child is Dibidoo, an animated 3D figure that accompanies the children throughout the program. Its grown-up friends Anni, Christian and Jule – who have great ideas, know stories and provide motivation – are always by the rabbit's side.

The popular bite-size adventures and story have been specifically developed for children aged between three and six and take place in a 2D world of paper snippets. These appealing aesthetics for children as well as the catchy songs provide a high level of audiovisual recognition value.

20 Dance Street

All the way from Réunion Island, Maya starts her first year at the Paris Opera Ballet School. Initially on the waiting list, she steps in at the last minute for a student who broke her leg, arriving a week after everyone else – an awkward situation that fuels doubts: is she really meant for such a prestigious school?

Maya quickly finds her footing, forming a friendship with Bilal, a dance prodigy whose talent matches his overflowing humour. Through him, she gains confidence and begins to reveal extraordinary abilities. While most classmates support her rise, Louise sees it differently. Jealous and obsessed with popularity, Louise will stop at nothing – lying, cheating, manipulating – to stay in the spotlight. Maya must stay vigilant to avoid her traps. Fortunately, she can rely on Bilal and Constance. Constance, the top student and Maya’s roommate, forms with them a chosen family: three dancers who never let each other down. Together, they face daily challenges – Maya struggles with being away from her grandmother, Bilal hides a heavy secret from his older brother, and Constance puts immense pressure on herself to meet her father’s expectations. Beyond personal struggles, they train relentlessly to meet the Paris Opera’s standard of excellence: performances on the Opera stage, the Christmas Demonstrations before over a thousand people, year-end exams... Their place is never guaranteed. To achieve their dream, they must push themselves every day, discovering not only their talent but also themselves.

Between friendships and rivalries, triumphs and setbacks, romance and betrayals, this year promises to be intense for these aspiring dancers – especially for Maya, who will uncover more than one secret about her past and future. She doesn’t know it yet, but her first year at 20 Dance Street will change her life forever.

Klincus

Klincus is a ten-year-old boy, very bright and intelligent but also very unfortunate. Orphaned as an infant, he is forced to live and work in the factory of the wicked Sir Graylock along with other kids like him in the industrial town of Umghard. Confident all along that his parents are still alive, Klincus plans his escape from the factory to get on their tracks. He escapes into the woods, pursued by Sir Graylock's thugs, and literally stumbles upon a world no one had ever seen before. In the most secret and forbidden part of the forest lies the town of Frondosa. Little taller than a pine cone, the Frondosians live in harmony with nature, rejecting all technology and living hidden from the 'miuk', the humans, whom they so fear. In fact, Sir Graylock has long had his eye on the forest, intending to cut it down in order to expand the city more and more. Klincus will act as a bridge between two seemingly irreconcilable visions of the world, in the eternal clash between modernity and tradition, nature and technology. Having seen firsthand the terrible costs that thoughtless progress brings, the boy will have to learn the traditional and harmonious ways of the forest, finding the right balance between modernity and tradition. With his skills and the help of his new friends, Klincus will do everything he can to maintain the delicate balance. With a new awareness, Klincus will shed light on his dark past and fight to rescue his friends from the clutches of the evil Sir Graylock and find his parents. As he picks up their trail, he discovers that they too were well aware of the risks of the indiscriminate growth of Umghard's factories.

Dinomite & Lucy

Back in the day, dinosaurs ruled the world.

Dinomite is one of them and Lucy is his human friend!

For this odd couple – Dinomite's head buzzing with ideas and Lucy full of boundless cave girl energy – every day brings new adventure and excitement!

The adventures of teenage dinosaur / madcap inventor Dinomite and his wild and unruly human friend, Lucy are set in the sleepy but eccentric dinosaur town of Fernham. Fernham is a flourishing, optimistic stone age city where modern dinos live in an amazingly functioning civilisation. Everything is made from purely degradable materials and powered by sauruses of all sizes and shapes – in other words: the best place to be for a young and crazy inventor like Dinomite and the little cave girl Lucy.

They might be completely opposite characters, but their strengths and weaknesses complement each other perfectly: where Dinomite is the nice, nerdy inventor type, Lucy is impulsive, loud and club-swinging. When Dinomite tries to solve smaller and bigger problems in the neighbourhood, Lucy tries her best to help – unfortunately that often causes additional trouble. Then there are all the other dinos and sauruses with their needs and problems so Dinomite always ends up juggling two or three tasks at the same time. In the end there is always a surprising solution to everything – but first we get right into the entertaining struggle of Dinomite's and Lucy's day-to-day life with complicated friendships, eccentric neighbours, wild physical saurus comedy, flesh-eating plants, nerve-racking furry creatures and tons of granite fun.

Zoom – The White Dolphin

Yann, an intrepid 15-year old and his little 7-year-old sister, Marina, live with their Uncle Patrick, an oceanographer, on the paradise island of Maotou, in the Pacific Ocean. Yann's best friend is Zoom, a remarkably intelligent white dolphin. Zoom takes Yann on a series of exciting adventures, set in the fascinating, fragile and danger-filled underwater world, as well as on dry land. Other characters include the inhabitants of Maotou, who are deeply attached to their traditions. Among them is Auru, the chief's son and Yann's friend and Timeti, a beautiful and feisty Polynesian girl for whom Yann has a soft spot. From saving manta rays from poachers, diving in search of a sunken treasure or keeping Van Krook, a ruthless billionaire from pillaging Maotou' sacred tikis, you can count on Yann and Zoom to overcome every challenge.

In Season 3 Yann is now working as intern at Manava research center. There he meets Nino, a brilliant but clumsy scientist and his daughter, Maimiti, a teenage computer genius. With the help of Anita, the vet, Yann must make sure the wild animals brought to Manava can be released safely and also take care of the permanent residents, such as Daisy, the mischievous sea lion, Bobby, the shy octopus, and Bubbles, the greedy dugong... Timeti has completed her apprenticeship as shaman while Auru is still trying to prove that he is the worthy heir to his dad, the village chief. Our heroes continue to protect their atoll against many environmental threats. They also run into old foes: the billionaire Van Krook, and Terrence Werner, a lawless, tycoon, who roams the seas aboard his impressive submarine.

Labyrinth of Lies

In 1985, twelve-year-old Paul is living in East Berlin, the capital of the GDR, with his resolute Grandma Liese and his idiosyncratic Uncle Henri. Paul is smart and clever and likes to help out his grandmother with errands. But he is also surrounded by a secret concerning his missing parents, which is why he is being ostracised by his classmates. Only when a lively new girl called Millie joins his class, things get better. She is half-Cuban, which makes her an outsider as well, and she seems to like Paul.

One night when Paul and Millie visit Uncle Henri at the Pergamon Museum, where he works as a night watchman, they have a brush with a ghost – or was it a burglar? Gradually, it dawns on the two friends that Uncle Henri is secretly working with the shady Professor Hartwig to search for the legendary Hieroglyphic Stone, which is said to be hidden somewhere in the museum.

But why is the Stasi, led by the ominous Thin Man, rummaging around Grandma Liese's flat? Why is the Stasi following Uncle Henri?

Gradually, Paul starts trusting Millie more and more and decides to tell her his story: Paul's parents were caught while they attempted to flee to the West, and sent to prison. Paul was forced to live in a children's home until his grandmother finally managed to find and rescue him from the home. Paul's parents were ransomed by the West and they now live in West Berlin. They are not allowed to take him out of the GDR or even visit him.

Uncle Henri and Grandma Liese seem to be keeping something from Paul. He becomes more and more convinced that they are both deeply involved in a conspiracy. The Stasi even bugs his grandmother's apartment and at one point it seems like Millie herself has betrayed him. Who can he still trust?!

Space Nova

The year is 2162, and life was a blast for space adventurer siblings, Jet and Adelaide Nova. Along with their parents, Josie and Hugo, these intrepid Australians spent their days hopping rogue planets, surfing solar flares and avoiding being eaten by every kind of plantimal – all in the name of science! What the Novas really wanted was to meet intelligent extraterrestrial life – something humanity had yet to do.

Then they did – the Stardustians! These beings use stardust, a rainbow substance, to power their ships and their home world. Keen to learn more about us, they leave behind one of their kind on Luna Port – Ziggy – who befriends the kids, including Sol. Sol has discovered he is a Stardustian himself with powers that he needs to learn to control.

Then disaster strikes. While following a convoy with their new friend, Ziggy, the Novas' ship is destroyed, throwing our heroes off course and stranding Ziggy in parts unknown. The powerful stardust explosion created during the event caused an imbalance in the universe with far-reaching consequences beyond our galaxy. The Nova mission is clear: find Ziggy and help him restore balance to the universe, whatever it takes!

Törtle

It's summer in Muddlemere, a tranquil little town right on Muddle Lake. Wild animals have made themselves at home here, not in direct contact with humans, but close enough to enjoy the comforts of civilisation. When they are caught seeking food and shelter in rubbish bins, gardens and garages, Wendy the vixen, Grumpf the boar, Kevin the marten and many others regularly come into conflict with the residents of Muddlemere and their pets. And right in the middle of the gang is Törtle, an exotic creature. As a tortoise who grew up in a pet shop, he is neither a pet nor a wild animal. Because he has plenty of time to observe people and animals very closely, he understands their behaviour and finds solutions to their conflicts that you wouldn't expect from a slow creature like Törtle. In every episode Törtle gets caught up in the culture clash between humans and animals, but always emerges as the unexpected hero.

Josephine, Törtle and the Animals

12-year-old Josephine loves animals and has a special bond with them through Törtle the tortoise. Her mother, a dedicated vet at Muddlemere, taught her from an early age to treat animals with respect and care.

Muddlemere is picturesquely situated on the banks of a lake, bordered by dense forest. This unique location makes it home to a wide variety of wildlife, from forest animals to neighbourhood pets.

Whenever an animal is in distress, Josephine is there to help with empathy and skill. She uses her detective instincts to get to the bottom of the problem. She often discovers that human behaviour or ignorance is the cause.

With her big heart, determination and tireless efforts, Josephine works to prevent such incidents from happening again. She educates the neighbourhood, initiates environmental projects and motivates young and old to be more respectful of nature.

She is supported by her brother Paul, her mother Anna, her father Mario, the forester Fritzie Vogel and people from the neighbourhood. She has exciting adventures, solves tricky cases and uses her creativity and courage to help all the creatures in and around Muddlemere.

Runes

Twelfth century Normandy. After the death of Robert the Magnificent, his son William, who is the con- tested heir to the throne of Normandy, manages to find refuge in the village of Baligan. In order to escape from the lords seeking to eliminate him and replace him on the throne, William assumes a new identity, that of a simple peasant boy named Hugo.

Taken in by Cecile's family, Hugo must be careful not to attract any attention from Lady Neel, the sover- eign leader of Baligan, as she has tasked her head guard with tracking down the boy and preventing him from succeeding to the Norman throne. When Hugo meets the old witch Algythe and discovers her knowledge of Runes, another facet of his destiny is revealed to him. He must renew the spell cast by his ancestor Rollo – a spell that ensures that Loki, the god of chaos, is kept imprisoned in Baligan's cave.

Thanks to the help of his new friends, the teachings of the old witch and especially his own will and courage, Hugo is revealed to be increasingly worthy of his destiny as the Chosen One.

Marcus Level

"Marcus... He's on a whole other level!"

Meet Marcus Level, a boy who sets out to play his favorite video game – and becomes a brave hero in a rich yet light- hearted virtual universe when he lands right smack inside the game itself.

When Marcus gets the latest version of his favorite video game, "Gorbar and the Valley of the Seven Light Towers", he tells himself that while his parents are gone during the weekend, he'll finally be able to explore all of its worlds.

As soon as he turns on the gaming con- sole and sticks in the game card, a flash of white lightning jumps out of the screen! Marcus suddenly finds himself transported inside the video game in the place of his hero Gorbar the Magnificent! Instead of big muscular arms, Marcus uses his head. But what about Gorbar?

Gorbar travels in the opposite direction and is quite puzzled to find himself in Marcus' room. The roles might be reversed, but the rules of the game stay the same. Marcus knows that if he wants to go home, he has but one solution: finish the game and free Princess Aria from the clutches of the evil Vipkrad. But before he can do that, he'll have to face countless challenges. Marcus wanted to play? He'll get what he wants!

Gobar winds up in Marcus' room, convinced that he's still on his mission, looking for the princess. He's going to have to deal with Seraphine, the baby- sitter, and learn to live the everyday life of a kid. It's obvious that things aren't going to be easy neither for Marcus, nor for Gorbar in Marcus' home!

The Jungle Book

Rudyard Kipling's most-loved characters come to life in The Jungle Book series. It narrates stories of the man cub Mowgli who was raised in the Indian jungle by a pack of wolves. Drama, excitement and adventure mixed with a high element of comedy tell the tales of Mowgli, his beloved mentor the wise bear Baloo, his panther buddy Bagheera, and the lazy rock python Kaa. Together they take on the evil Shere Khan, who is out to get Mowgli.

His adventures begin out in the lush tropical forest of Seeonee amidst splendid Indian royal forts, temples, waterfalls, the Waigunga river and many other picturesque locales. Throughout the series, other characters from Kipling's jungle stories add drama, comedy and action to top-quality animation and storytelling.

A docutainment is also available. Jungle Book animation with real-life footage of animals provides the perfect blended entertainment format!

Scream Street

Scream Street follows the wonderful, funny and weird world of a community of so-called monsters: home to families of reluctant werewolves, sarcastic vampires, kick-ass mummies and ghouls galore!

This spooky comedy focuses on the core teen friendship group of Luke Watson (reluctant werewolf), Cleo Farr (a teenage mummy) and Resus Negative (a wannabe vampire). Their extended friendship group includes an apprentice witch (Luella), a surfer-dude zombie (Doug) and, latterly, the newest addition, Six, a Frankenstein-esque super-athlete.

Stories are full of heart and warmth with comedy at the core. The ups and downs of teen friendship groups are all part of the action too: the importance of being who you are, inclusion and acceptance are explored – all delivered through slick stop motion and CGI.

Clan – Choose your Destiny

Normalcy seems to be back in Scampia: Maddaloni’s gym has reopened and the new club “The Square” has immediately become a hang-out for young people, where Pasquale unexpectedly works as a bartender. The memory of his friend Armando still lives in everyone’s hearts, especially those of Francesco and Pasquale.

As the Maddaloni clan prepares for National qualifiers, the world of evil reorganises. Tony Hollywood, now free, adopts a new leadership style, but his past as a pupil of Maddaloni’s haunts him; he resents that Francesco chose the master instead of joining him and his brother Ninja. Tensions explode with an ambush gone wrong, forcing Ninja to flee and go into hiding, aided only by his ex, Elena, who runs “The Square” on Tony’s behalf.

To the clan’s rescue comes Enzo, a former student and black belt, while Lucia, Ginevra’s determined magistrate mother, arrives in Naples. Aurora, a shy and awkward girl, joins the gym, while the boys’ personal lives become complicated: Vincenza clashes with an oppressive father; Raffaele abandons judo to devote himself to music, finding love in a secret fan; and Gigi and Chantal grow apart.

Tony, meanwhile, devises a plan to destroy the clan for good, forcing Francesco to become his accomplice, and keeping him in check with a terrible threat. Francesco will have to betray everything and everyone: will he be able to make the right choice to save himself and protect those he loves?

Find me in Paris

Find me in Paris is a fun fish-out-of-water story about Lena Grisky, a Russian princess and student at the Paris Opera Ballet School who accidentally time travels to the present day. There she must quickly adapt to modern advances like technology, teen slang, and fashionable clothes – things current teens take for granted – if she hopes to keep her secret and hide from the dangerous Time collectors.

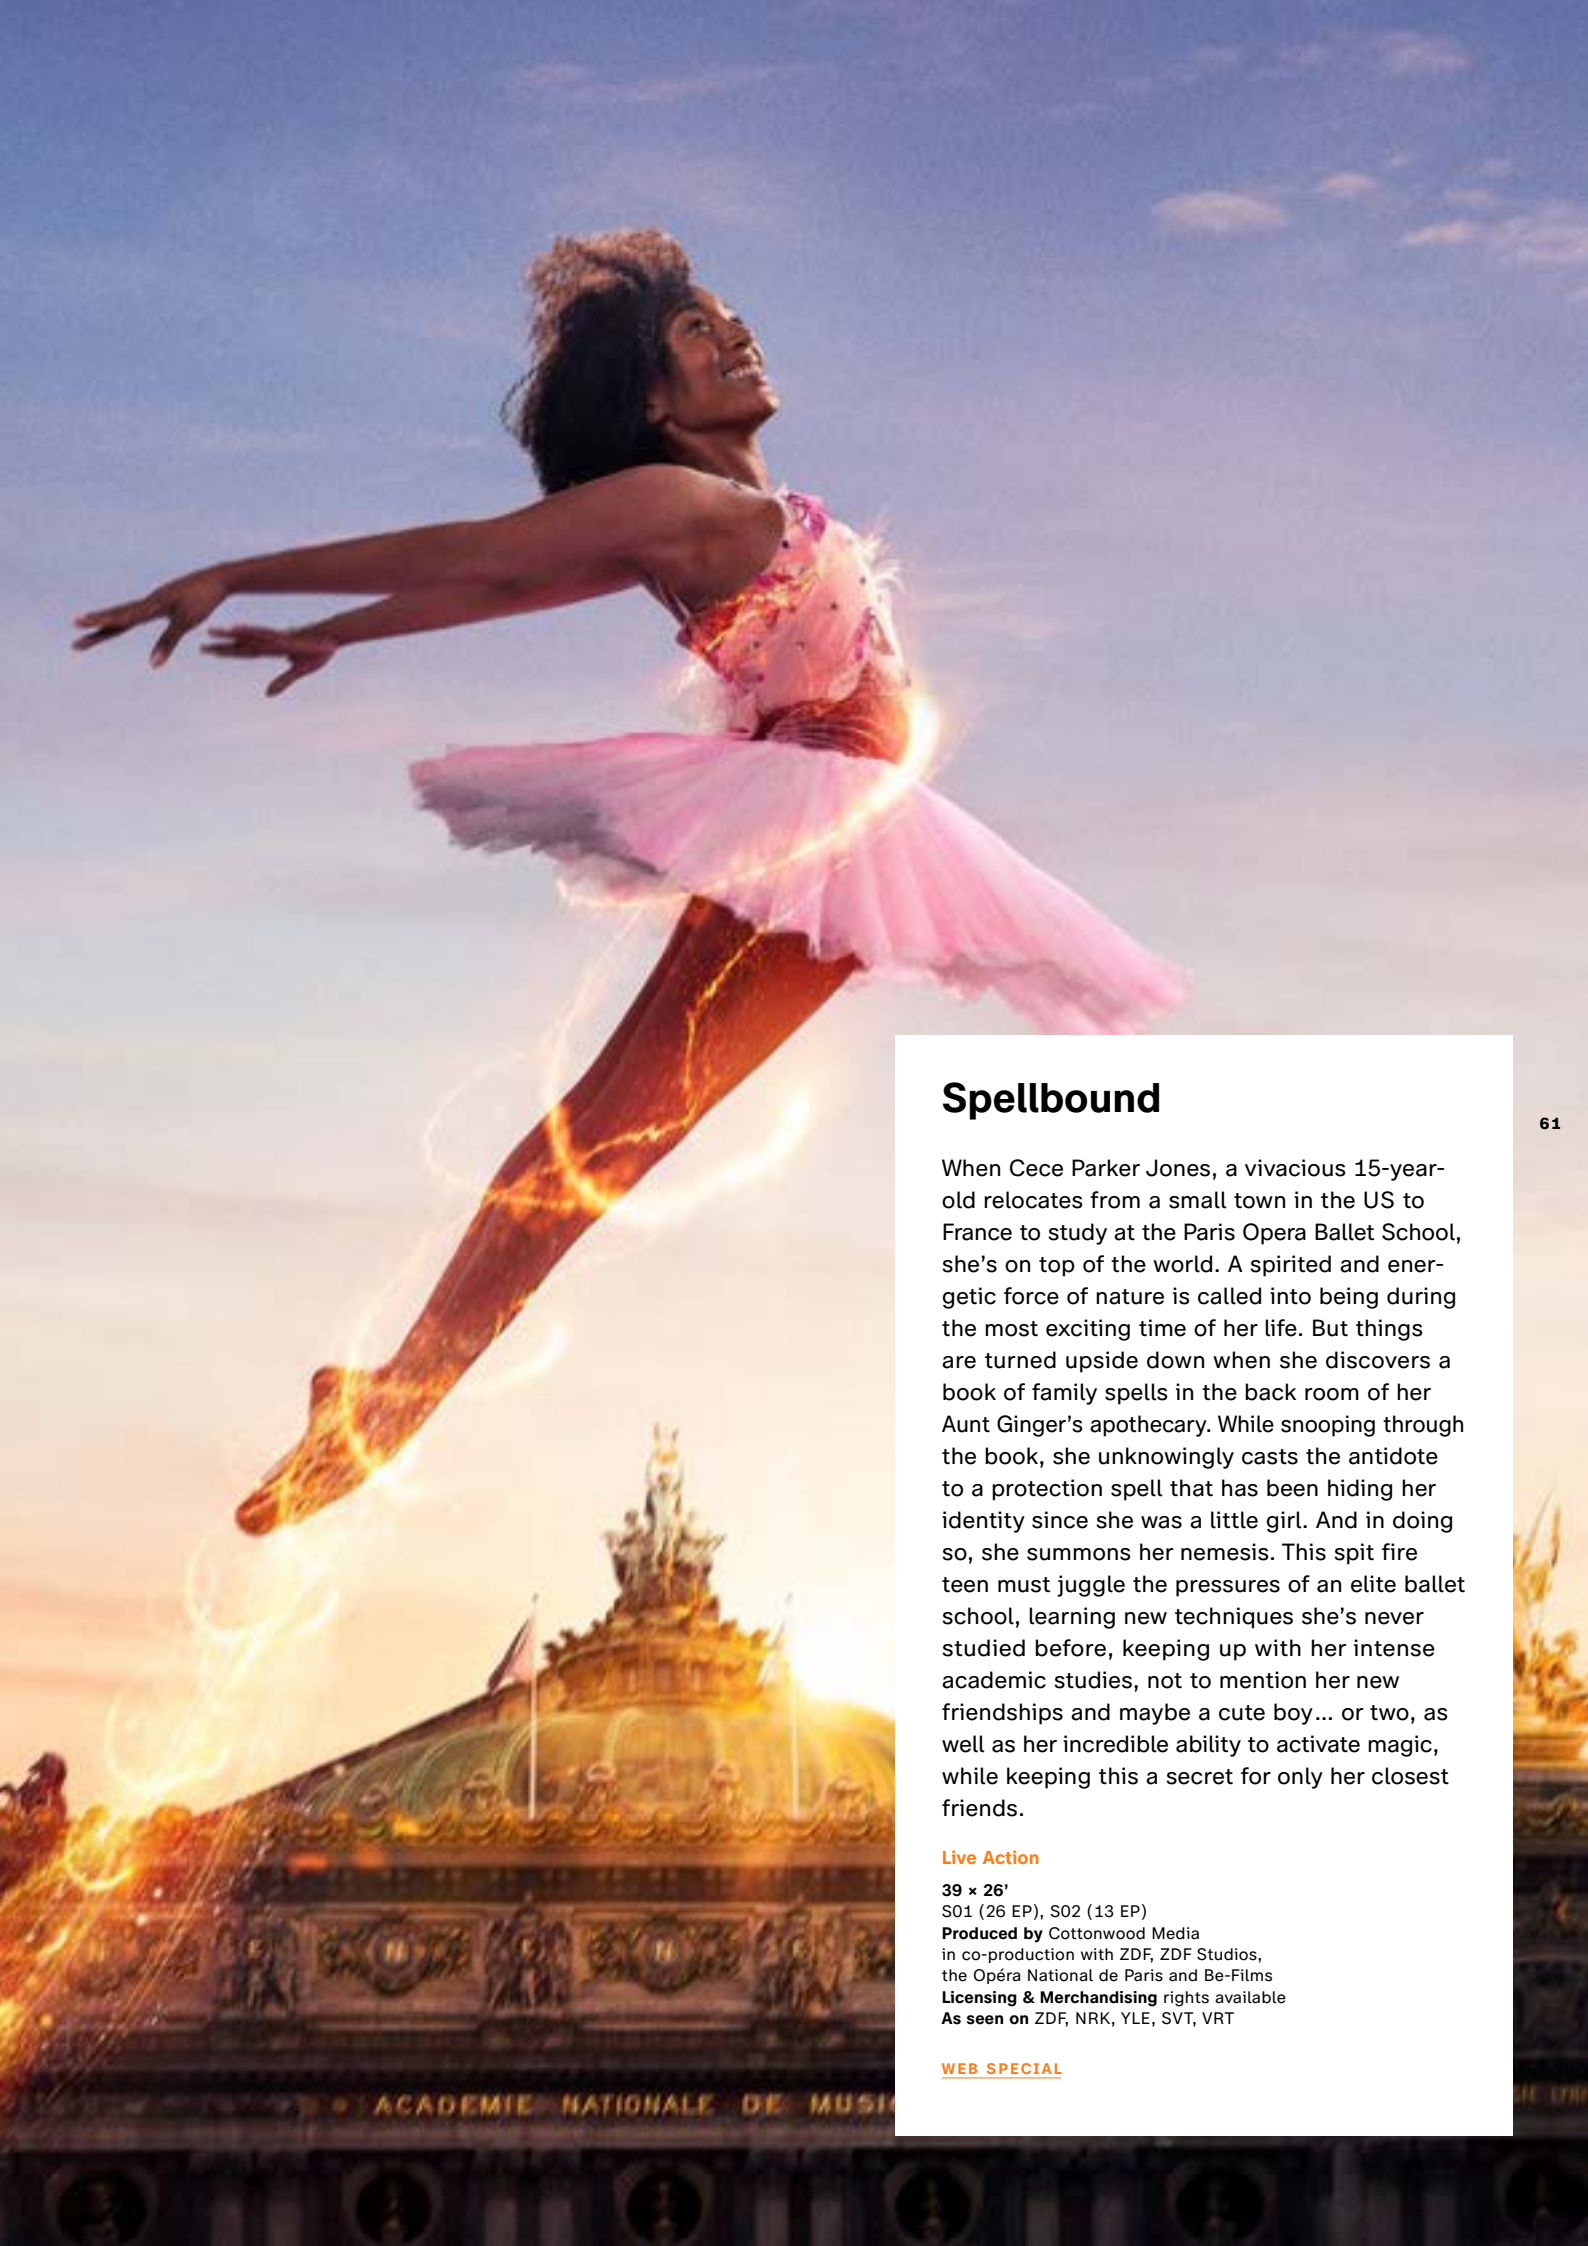

In season two, Lena faces her destiny as she tries to pin down where she really belongs: in 1905 or 2018? With Henri or Max? Becoming an étoile one day or choosing a hip-hop career? Her friends face difficult choices as well.

In season three, Lena completes her final year at the Paris Opera Ballet School and competes against the ballet world's elite to nail a spot in the Company while learning about her true identity as a Time Travel Heir.

Spellbound

When Cece Parker Jones, a vivacious 15-year-old relocates from a small town in the US to France to study at the Paris Opera Ballet School, she's on top of the world. A spirited and energetic force of nature is called into being during the most exciting time of her life. But things are turned upside down when she discovers a book of family spells in the back room of her Aunt Ginger's apothecary. While snooping through the book, she unknowingly casts the antidote to a protection spell that has been hiding her identity since she was a little girl. And in doing so, she summons her nemesis. This spit fire teen must juggle the pressures of an elite ballet school, learning new techniques she's never studied before, keeping up with her intense academic studies, not to mention her new friendships and maybe a cute boy... or two, as well as her incredible ability to activate magic, while keeping this a secret for only her closest friends.

Dancing Juli!

Juli (15) loves dancing! She is self-confident and doesn't mind if someone makes fun of her, just because she gains more weight than others. Paul from the upper classes, for example, regularly tries to provoke her. When his brother Micky (16) approaches her, Juli is sceptical. He is a well-known rapper at school and wants her to be a dancer for a video in which he wants to stage a rap for his secret love. Really? But developing a choreography is one of her dreams, so Juli finds it very appealing and agrees.

The two start rehearsing in an old swimming pool and it soon becomes clear that they quite like each other. But can Juli really trust Micky? He reacts strangely to his brother's teasing. And when Micky quite obviously makes fun of her weight at school, she is incredibly disappointed and confronts him. But she didn't expect what comes next at all.

The pop-rap musical Dancing Juli! is about the first fragile love and wants to encourage young people to love and accept not only themselves but also others as they are.

Surviving Summer

After pushing her high-flying Australian mother to the brink, irrepressible Brooklyn teen Summer Torres is sent to live with family friends, the Gibsons, in the tiny town of Shorehaven on the Great Ocean Road. Supposedly she lived there until she was six but as far as she's concerned, this quirky Aussie family is a bunch of strangers. In a word: she's furious. So is Ari Gibson, an introverted but ambitious young surfer coming back to competition after a life-threatening injury and months of rehab. He didn't ask for this impulsive and unpredictable American to steal his room and completely disrupt his plans. Those plans being: to make the Victorian Junior Surf Team and reconnect with his old buddies – Marlon, Bodhi and Poppy – who drifted away after the surfing accident that put Ari in hospital. During Summer's eight-week exile, she'll be introduced to the fun and thrilling world of competitive surfing... and discover a talent and a drive she never knew she had... as well as an extended family to support her. At the same time, as Ari competes against his friends and awesomely talented kids up and down the coast in an effort to make the State Team, he'll also battle a secret anxiety that threatens to derail his dreams. Polar opposites in so many ways, Ari and Summer will drive each other crazy, share amazing experiences, and change each other's lives.

In the second season Summer returns to Shorehaven, having found her own passion for surfing and eager to reunite with Ari and her old friends. But when she makes the State Team, she makes a mortal enemy of the team captain – Ari's new girlfriend, Wren.

Theodosia

It's 1905. Smart, bold, 14-year-old Theodosia is the daughter of two Egyptologists excavating in the Valley of the Kings. When Theo and her younger brother, invention-mad Henry, stumble on a hidden tomb and a mysterious artefact, the Eye of Horus, Theo unlocks the power to see and perform true magic.

With her powers renewed and enlarged by the oasis's magic, Theo finds herself caught up in a battle across time to prevent the creation of a machine that threatens to poison the world's magic and destroy the globe itself. From her parents' Museum of Legends and Antiquities, Theo must battle with ancient forces and dark magic as she and Henry, along with their friends, street magician Will and Egyptian princess Safiya, try to survive teenage life, get through education and save the whole world.

Full of fun, thrills and heart, Theo's adventures will see her making new friends and discovering new powers, taking her from the tunnels of the London Underground to magic-twisted temples to the Ancient Egyptian underworld and the time of Rameses II himself.

#LikeMe

#LikeMe tells the story of Caroline – ‘Caro’ to her friends – a young girl who moves to the city with her mum Kristel and dad Peter, because Kristel needs ongoing medical care she can’t get in the countryside. The three move in with grandmother Titin, who is happy to have her family close, even though it does take them all a while to adjust.

Meanwhile, Caro not only has to get used to a new environment, but also to a new school. As ‘the new girl’, Caro is in the spotlight, not a position she relishes. After a somewhat hectic start, Caro meets the jovial Yemi, who happily volunteers to help her to settle in. Caro and Yemi soon become close friends.

But not everyone at school is equally friendly. Fashionista Camille soon makes it clear to Caro that the school has a pecking order and that she and her friends are at the top. Camille’s boyfriend, the athletic and good-looking Vince, does his best to welcome Caro, much to Camille’s displeasure. When Caro and Vince are selected for the leading roles in the school play and they seem to get along pretty well, Camille is furious...

By the end of season four, Caro will end her school career with mixed feelings, but with countless warm, hilarious and emotional memories. And with friends for life.

#LikeMe is a musical series that shows youngsters the lives of other youngsters in a unique and contemporary way: by using witty dialogue, familiar situations, pressing issues, strong characters and, of course, powerful music. As befits a good musical series, everything in #LikeMe is based on strong songs: songs that move, surprise, entertain and linger.

Hoodie

Hoodie is a superhero story about a perfectly normal boy, with an exceptional talent for parkour and a passion for justice. He has secretly been practicing parkour with Soufian, the best tracer in Brussels. He has been doing so in secret, as his mother, a passionate police officer, would never approve it. One day when a woman is robbed near his house, Pieter hesitates only briefly. He pulls his hoodie over his head and chases the robber using his parkour skills. He skilfully jumps over walls, traversing gardens and roofs...

without being recognized. And so the legend of “Hoodie – fighter of crime” is created. When three neighbourhood kids, Flo, Basim and Kenza, discover Pieter’s talent and motivation, they join him to become an unexpected superhero crew: Team Hoodie. They are connected by one goal: to liberate the neighbourhood from injustice.

In season 2, Pieter and his three friends join together to free Vrijbeek from a hit-and-run vandal. Pieter locates his arch-rival Soufian and brings him back to Brussels, to train Hoodie back to superhero fitness.

But Soufian’s arrival threatens to break up Pieter’s team.

In the 3rd season Pieter’s mother discovers his secret, but he decides to bring her into the team to free Vrijbeek, together with his friends, from a fake Hoodie who steals rather than protects.

Good Vibes – Stronger Together

Booooooring! Ms. Huber annoys the music club with dry theory about Beethoven's 5th symphony. The 6c students want to create something musical themselves. Ms. Huber challenges them to interpret the symphony, with a spot on the "Wall of Fame" as the prize.

Milli doesn't know what to do, while Tom, who loves singing and playing the ukulele, forms a band with his friend Rod on drums. Châu, caught in a misunderstanding, ends up in the band when Tom thinks she's a keyboard expert. Milli feels this is stupid since "Chilli" was meant to be a group thing. She wants Châu to tell the truth, but Châu doesn't want to. Milli realises Châu has a crush on Tom. What about Milli's secrets? Since her sister Jenni moved out, Milli has been alone a lot, with her parents working late. She feels lonely but doesn't want to cause problems.

Tom isn't "home alone". Since his grandmother's injury, he shares a small room with his brother Ben and struggles with a lack of privacy. His family seems indifferent to him, and it's becoming unbearable. At least he has the band.

Châu keeps finding excuses not to rehearse, and Milli gets frustrated. Tensions rise when Châu mistakenly thinks Milli has a crush on Tom too. But they wouldn't be Chilli if they couldn't sort things out.

In the end, Ms. Huber cancels the competition, and all the Musik-AG's efforts – the dance choreographies, a cappella group, and DJ set – seem wasted. But Tom, Milli, and Châu don't give up. With solidarity and team spirit, the Musik-AG shows Ms. Huber who deserves their place on the "Wall of Fame".

Truth or Dare

Truth or Dare is the story of the first great love, a friendship that means more than anything else, obsessions that must be kept secret and the quest for popularity.

The realistic drama series is about self-acceptance among pre-teens and their attempts to master challenges that life throws at them – whether it is about identity, love, friendship, family or school. The series about best friends Sanne and Tara aims to reduce the fear many young people have of being not good enough, and thereby hopes to strengthen the viewers' self-esteem.

The first season is told mainly from the viewpoint of Sanne, who is a vulnerable and somewhat insecure girl who struggles with OCD. Sanne is terrified of being unsupported as the 'weird one' and is willing to do anything to keep her best friend Tara. When Sanne fails Tara one day, Tara breaks the friendship and Sanne is left alone. She feels guilt and shame, and the obsessive-compulsive disorder escalates so much that it becomes difficult to function normally in everyday life.

The second season is told mainly from the viewpoint of Tara, who is looking forward to starting secondary school. Her joy does however turn to horror when she discovers that none of her friends will be starting in the same class. In the first year of secondary school, it's all about friends, love and how much you are willing to sacrifice to become – and stay – popular.

Housemates – Vacations without Parents

The original format Housemates is aired on the German public broadcasting kids and youth channel KiKA. Each Housemates season usually follows five girls or five boys whose big dream has come true: they are invited to spend three weeks in a beautiful villa, situated in a wonderful spot in Europe. What makes it even more than a holiday: they are doing so without their parents. During their time together, the housemates have lots of fun. But for the first time they must take responsibility for their everyday lives as well.

Documenting the protagonists in a neutral way helps young viewers to develop an attitude which comes in handy within their family lives, their circle of friends, for school and for shaping their values. Developing this attitude is not done by pointing fingers at others, but by the way other children are depicted in the show. Therefore, it is important to present the protagonists in a positive way, as role models, even when dealing with difficult topics or situations.

Housemates is cheerful, entertaining and at the same time enriched with informative elements. The format is not about power games, social exclusion or displaying weaknesses. It's about showing how strong young people can be.

BUCK

For the insecure and nondescript Elias, teenage life is a minefield. He takes his mind off it by playing his favourite video game, in which digital hero Commander Buck always saves the day. When Elias plays, he forgets all about his two irritating older sisters, his busy single mum, the bully in his new school, the world...

Elias's room is his refuge, a place where nobody bothers him. Until one day... Commander Buck himself is standing next to Elias's bed. And from then on, everything changes!

In this coming-of-age story, we follow Elias's transformation into a confident adolescent, who dares to be who he wants to be: someone who stands up to the school bully, someone who doesn't just let people push in front of him in the checkout queue, someone who isn't too timid to reveal his feelings to the girl of his dreams...

This process is naturally one of trial and error – sometimes painful, sometimes funny, but always real.
